YOUNG VANDALS DESTROY PROPERTY

Jevenile Outlaws, Whose Parents Permit Them to Run Wild, are Becoming an Intolerable Nuisance.

While there seems no actual insurance against vandalism, in the same sense that we consider fire or cyclone insurance, it would seem about time that there should be at least a moral protection from such acts as despoil private and public property. A committee from the Ulster Garden Club, of which Mrs. Edward Cockendall is president, has undertaken, with the full permission and appreciation of Judge Clearwater, the beautifying of the Senate House grounds. Wednesday the work was begun. While a member of the committee was actively engaged at the Senate House grounds her own property, which is a fine asset to the upper part of the city and which has a flourishing hedge row of shrubbery along the edge of the sidewalk, had the entire top from a particularly fine specimen of white lilac ruthlessly torn out, seriously damaging the shrub. Only a short time ago, another uptown yard was visited by children and an entire flower bed completely stripped of tulip blossoms.

The trouble seems to be an absolute ignorance or disregard of the property rights of other people. Since parents seem not to teach their children the very important difference between "mine" and "thine," cannot our schools do something educational along this line? Unquestionably the children who have home or school grounds, or improved or beautified school grounds in which they take pride, will learn not only respect for but finally a real love for beautiful plant life and will seek to protect rather than destroy it but what about those who have not this instruction? And where one sort of property belonging to another is disregarded it is an easy step to disregard other rights of other people. This is certainly a piece of educational work that cannot be made too emphatic nor too carefully inculcated. In the meantime, while this educational process is going on it looks as though property would need police protection if their young plants costing time and money are to be safe.

Then he started to let people know and met Hattie Snyder and her cousin, Nettie Myer, who got Michael Baier to convey him home. When Dr. Holcomb arrived he pronounced it a stroke of paralysis. The sick man is in a very serious condition.

MANY CASES OF MUMPS IN CITY

Health Officer Johnston is Calling Attention of Physicians to Prevalence of the Disease and Asking Co-operation in Preventing the Epidemic.

In the past two days nine cases of mumps have been reported to Health Officer Frank A. Johnston at the city hall and there a number of cases about town. The health officer is writing all of the local physicians, calling their attention to the prevalence of the mumps and asking their co-operation in checking the epidemic. The cases reported are widely scattered about town, and are not confined to any one street or locality of the city. Under the public health laws all children with mumps must be kept home from school, and must secure a certificate from the health officer before resuming their studies. Parents are urged to watch their children closely and when they find any noticeable swelling are advised to have a physician examine the child.

ALPHA CLASS OF THE ST. JAMES M. E. SUNDAY SCHOOL.

The Rev. Dr. P. N. Chase, although a retired preacher for several years, has not ceased to work. He often supplies pulpits in the city and vicinity, and when not so engaged has the pleasure of teaching two Sunday school classes. One at St. James' Church at 11:45 o'clock and one at Bethany Chapel at 3:30 o'clock.

The class at Bethany Chapel is composed of Carrie Bush, Louise Capach, Mae Hein, Mabel Spencer, Mary Spencer and Helen Webber. Last Friday evening this class was entertained at the home of their teacher, No. 15 Green street, where a social evening was spent with music and later refreshments were served. On Wednesday evening the class from St. James' Church paid their teacher a visit. During the evening a fine program of vocal and instrumental music and reading was rendered and games were played. Warm maple sugar and other refreshments were served.

The class of St. James' Sunday school is an organized class, the "Alpha" class, and as this was also the annual meeting the officers were elected as follows: President, Margaret Angle; vice president, Lillian Eckert; secretary, Faith Safford; treasurer, Florence Craig. The following committees were also elected: Membership, Edythe Shultis, Florence Craig, Freda Mase, Missionary, Lillian Eckert, Faith Safford, Beth Osborn, Social, Alberta Silkworth, Ruth Shafer and Margaret Angle. The Misses Mase and Short have joined the class since the above picture was taken.

Those attending the general conference at Saratoga this month will see a picture, like the above, of the Alpha class in the Sunday school exhibit.

WHY THE PARADE GOES WHERE IT DOES

The circus parade route Friday has been definitely decided upon and will be as follows: Starting at circus grounds at Foxhall avenue and Stephen street, it will pass over Cornell street to Broadway to Albany avenue, to Pearl street, to Fair street, to Henry street, to Broadway, to Delaware avenue to Hasbrouck avenue, to Foxhall avenue, to grounds.

It was originally planned to go from Albany avenue to Clinton avenue and thence to St. James street to Broadway. Three objections presented themselves to this route. It was discovered that the swing around these blocks would probably not be long enough and that the beginning of the parade would strike the tail end at the corner of Broadway and St. James street. It was also thought that traffic on the Broadway line would be stopped as the trolley cars would be unable to pass on the St. James street switch while the parade was passing. The objection was raised that it would mean a duplication of the route between Cornell street and St. James street. It was then planned to pass along Pearl street to Wall street and thence to Henry street to Broadway. As Wall street, below Maiden Lane, is torn up and being oppressed this was impossible at this time.

HIS BIRTHDAY WAS REMEMBERED

Members of Rondout Social Manner-Presented President Jacob Schantz With Gold Pin in Honor of His Birthday.

Wednesday evening the regular meeting of the Rondout Social Mannerclub in a mannerer hall on the Strand was marked by the presentation of a handsome gold pin to President Jacob Schantz in honor of his birthday, and as a slight token of the high regard in which he is held by the society. The presentation was made by Ex-President Jacob Merkle in behalf of the society and came as a total surprise to Mr. Schantz, who was unaware that any thing unusual was to occur at the meeting which was attended by the wives of the members. During the evening an elaborate banquet was served and dancing was enjoyed. The stump dinner the administration of President Schantz the society is in flourishing condition, both socially and financially.

STREET OILING NEXT WEEK

Standard Oil Company's Auto Truck Engaged to Complete Street Oiling Which Will be Finished Next Week, Weather Permitting.

The board of public works has engaged the Standard Oil Company to complete the work of oiling the city streets and Superintendent Van Keuren said this morning that weather permitting the work of spreading the oil would be resumed next week. It is expected that with favorable conditions prevailing that it will be possible to spread 60,000 gallons of oil which will complete the street oiling this season. Already 30,000 gallons of oil have been spread, which with the oil to be spread next week will make a total of 90,000 gallons laid on the city streets this year. The unfavorable weather this week has delayed the street department in its oiling work, but with the assistance of the large auto truck of the Standard Oil Company the work can be accomplished in much quicker time than usual.

A PERSISTENT SLEEPER.

Protected From Moonshine by an Umbrella He Slept On.

On Sunday evening people in an automobile, climbing the hill near Sauer's Hotel on the Saugerties road, found a man sleeping in the middle of the state road, with his umbrella up over him, apparently to keep the moon beams off. When awakened by those who had nearly run over him, he was too full of joy juice to tell who he was, but explained that he was an "undertaker's assistant." He walked off with his joyful smile still on and the umbrella still up. An early riser at a nearby house found him asleep in an out house, and again started the undertaker's assistant on his way.

Watson Hollow Inn Opening.

Last year one of the most popular resorts for motorists and sight-seers, was that of Watson Hollow Inn, at Watson Hollow, conducted by Mrs. Jane Crosby Teller. This year the inn will open on Saturday of this week, May 20th, with its splendid service, whereby auto parties or other guests may secure luncheon, afternoon tea, or supper, or to whom service a la carte on the porch or in the pumpkin room will be a delight. The scenery going to and from the inn from Kingston alone, is marvellously beautiful, and Mrs. Teller has just issued an exceedingly clever little folder giving a map of the Ashokan reservoir tour and its vicinity, also stating points of interest in that vicinity and the distances from New York city, Newburgh, etc., to the inn.

H. Baragwanath, C. H. Cookman, Jacob Morris Coerr, A. S. Cole and Solomon T. Cole. BELGIANS VICTORS IN COLONIAL WAR

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Washington, D. C., May 18.—News of the success of Belgian forces in conflict with colonial troops of German East Africa gives timeliness to a war geography bulletin, issued today by the National Geographic Society from its Washington headquarters, which says:

"When the American public reads that the troops of the Belgian Congo have defeated the colonial troops of German East Africa at Shungu, and that the victors are proceeding southward from Lake Kivu in the direction of Lake Tanganyika, it is hard to realize that the two colonial possessions involved have a combined area four-fifths as large as all of continental Europe, the Russian empire excepted. Belgium's territory alone in this quarter of the globe is eighty times as large as the mother country, while the population of the jungle wilds of the Congo basin is variously estimated at from fourteen to thirty millions. The German colony is nearly double the area of the home country, while the population is estimated at eight millions. In both possessions, however, the number of Europeans, chiefly officers of the home government, does not exceed a few thousand."

"Shungu, the position recently captured by the Belgians, lies on the southern shore of Lake Kivu, a magnificent body of water having an area almost as large as the state of Rhode Island, and situated nearly a mile above sea level, with gigantic volcanic peaks looking down upon it from the north."

"The march of the victorious colonials is along the Rusizi river, which conveys the waters of Lake Kivu for sixty miles to the south to Lake Tanganyika, the longest fresh-water lake in the world."

"The history of both the Congo and of German East Africa, so far as the governing countries are concerned, is confined to the last thirty or forty years. Belgium owes her interests in the 'Dark Continent' primarily to her late sovereign, Leopold II, who founded the 'International Association for Exploration and Civilization in Africa' in 1876. As a result of this association's activities in effecting treaties with native chiefs, there was developed the Congo Free State, a neutral independent sovereignty, first recognized as such by the United States in 1884. Leopold, whose interest in the new region had been keen since that of any other ruler, and whose name alone had delayed much of the expense of exploration, was named as sovereign of the new state. By a will, executed four years later, the king bequeathed the Congo to Belgium. After prolonged international controversies Leopold finally voted to assume full control of and responsibility for the territory as a colonial possession. This took place eight years ago, and the first nation to recognize the new power in Central Africa was Germany, in January, 1903."

"Germany's control of the territory lying on the eastern side of the continent opposite the Belgian Congo, dates back a quarter of a century when the Sultan of Zanzibar ceded his main land possessions of 264,000 square miles to the European empire for a mere million dollars."

"The early history of the coast of what is now German East Africa goes back four or five hundred years before the advent of Portuguese navigators who found Arabs in possession of the native villages in the sixteenth century. When the Portuguese withdrew after two centuries Arabs again assumed control, extending their power far inland. England was offered control of the region by the Zanzibar Arabs at about the time that Stanley was making his famous explorations of the Congo, but the offer was declined. Then began the activities, secret at first, of the German Colonization Society, which eventually resulted in adding the territory to the Kaiser's overseas domain."

"On the western side of the continent the Portuguese naval officer, Diogo Cam, discovered the mouth of the Congo some ten years before Columbus set sail on his voyage which resulted in the finding of the New World. It was many centuries, however, before the river, with a basin of a million and a half square miles, larger than any other in the world save the Amazon, was explored for more than a few miles above its estuary."

"One name of interest in connection with the Congo is that of Sir Roger Casement, now a prisoner in England charged with treason. Sir Roger, when British consul at Boma, the Congo capital, made a journey through the upper regions of the great river basin in 1903, after which he made a famous report alleging many atrocities in the treatment of natives."

"The most interesting settlement in German East Africa is Ujiji, a town of 14,000 inhabitants, chiefly Arabs. This slave and ivory mart of the nineteenth century was first visited by Europeans in 1858, when Richard Burton and J. H. Speke discovered Lake Tanganyika, on whose eastern shores the town is situated. Of even more interest, however, is the fact that it was here that Henry M. Stanley's famous undertaking to find the lost explorer, David Livingstone, was accomplished on October 28, 1871."

CAREER CHANGED BY LITTLE "WANT AD"

President of the Associated Advertising Clubs Believes in Their Efficiency and Tells Why.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Philadelphia, May 18.—Herbert S. Houston, president of the Associated Advertising Clubs of the World, which will hold their great convention here, June 25 to 30, is a thorough believer in newspaper "want ads," for if it had not been for a little "want ad," he might not be presiding at this great business convention this summer.

He was working in the editorial department of a Chicago newspaper. His hours were long and his pay envelope was about as fat as a match, as was the nature of editorial department pay envelopes in those times. The little advertisement that so greatly influenced his career announced that a certain baking powder company wanted an advertising manager. Young Houston applied. He did not know much about advertising in those days, but he was bright, resourceful and self-confident, and he obtained the position.

The exacting training of newspaper offices, which has been the foundation of so many successful careers in various lines, stood him in good stead, and he rose rapidly, now being vice-president of Doubleday, Page & Co., the publishing house.

ALLIES ATTACK HOSPITAL SHIP

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Washington, May 18.—The French and Italian governments face a serious reckoning with the state department if allegations of the Austro-Hungarian government are proved that French and Italian submarines have attacked an Austrian passenger boat and a hospital ship. The state department today was awaiting with interest receipt of a note reported to have been handed to Ambassador Penfield as well as the diplomatic representatives of the other neutral powers in Vienna.

The Austrian government charges French and Italian submarine craft with "intentional murder" and sets forth in detail the circumstances under which the Austrian passenger ship Dubrovnik was sunk in the Adriatic and the hospital ship Electra was also torpedoed. It also is charged that other peaceable Austrian ships have been torpedoed without warning. The Austrian note is expected to reach the state department today. Officials here will make careful inquiry to ascertain if any Americans were among those lost in these reported attacks.

Whether Americans were lost or not, the state department, it is expected, will dispatch a vigorous protest to the offending government if the facts are found to be as alleged. It now appears that submarines of the allied powers have been engaged in precisely the same practices which have brought such bitter denunciations upon Germany. Both Great Britain and France have furnished valuable evidence to the United States in proving its submarine cases against Germany. This was notably true in establishing Germany's responsibility for the torpedoing of the Sussex.

It seems probable that the United States forthwith will inquire from the allies what instructions submarine commanders are operating under.

The state department still is waiting for further evidence as to the circumstances of the sinking of the Dutch steamer Batavier V, with the loss of one American. Early reports indicate that the ship struck a mine. Should this prove to be the case, no action will be possible by this government.

Engineering in Florida.

William W. Michael left town today for Florida, where he will be engaged for two or three weeks in making a survey of a recently constructed canal on behalf of the J. G. Hort Company, a large firm of contracting engineers of New York city, in order to settle a lawsuit between contractors. Mr. Michael is a graduate of Kingston Academy and took his engineering course at Tufts College, Boston. He recently opened an office in the Cordis building, opposite the Kingston Opera House, on Fair street. Mr. Michael is a son of Superintendent of Schools Myron J. Michael.

CIVIC DIVISION IN BIG PARADE

A civic division for men and women not members of organizations participating in the Memorial Day parade was decided on at a meeting of the general committee on plan and scope Thursday evening, and many citizens of Kingston have signed their intention of taking part in the Memorial Day parade in this division which will be formed as a demonstration on the part of the people in favor of national preparedness.

Members of organizations which have notified the committee of their intention to parade will march with their organizations, but many members of organizations which will not take part, as well as men and women who belong to no organization, are anxious to parade. The recent preparedness parade in New York city has given an impetus to a preparedness demonstration here, which has manifested itself in a request for the formation of a preparedness section.

The proposal for the new division met with hearty approval, and three sections will be formed for such citizens as desire to parade in the preparedness division. Marshals appointed for the divisions are Aaron Cohen, Ward B. Everett and County Clerk Christopher K. Loughran, for the division to be formed up town; C. R. Stull, James J. Sheridan, Albert H. Cook and Charles L. McBride for the division to be formed in the central part of the city; Henry C. Connelley, Charles Lahl and William C. Kingston for the division to be formed downtown.

Announcement was made at the committee meeting that one hundred and fifty of the high school boys have volunteered to parade, and they will form a division with other high school boys who are expected to volunteer their services.

The local members of the Grand Army Post anticipate that many Civil War veterans throughout the county will come to Kingston to parade, and on account of the fact that the Grand Army veterans will be the guests of honor in the parade, the committee decided that all such veterans shall ride in automobiles because many of them are too feeble for the long march. Automobile owners who will donate the use of their cars for this purpose are requested to notify C. H. Styles, of No. 210 Ten Broeck avenue, whose telephone call is 481-J.

Arrangements have been made for the use of the Armory for the exercises in case weather conditions should prevent the program being carried out at the city hall lawn. The tentative program arranged by the committee for the exercises at the city hall is as follows:

Invocation.....
Rev. Wilbur F. Stowe,
Pastor of the Reformed Church of the Comforter.

Reading of Lincoln's Gettysburg Address.....
Congressman Charles B. Ward,
of Liberty, N. Y.

Hon. William E. Thorpe,

The reader of the Gettysburg address will be selected by Mr. James H. Everett and Superintendent of Schools Myron J. Michael.

ROCKS SCHOOL TALENT.

Fine Entertainment Given in the R. H. Van Village Hall.

Rifton, May 18.—The entertainment given by the Rocks School at the Village Hall, Rifton, on Friday, May 12, was a decided success. The hall was filled to its capacity. People came from Tillson, St. Remy and Rifton.

The program opened with a duet by Mrs. Alger and Miss Keller. Address of welcome, Andrew Davis. Next came the operetta, "Over the Rainbow."

As the curtain was raised for Act I a very pleasing scene met the audience. The stage was very prettily decorated with flowers, leaves and crepe paper, in rainbow colors. Then came a song, "Tinkle, Tinkle," by Millie and Yetta Freidman, Mary Jones, Wilma Petroff. Next a solo, "A Rainy Day," Millie Freidman.

As the children were sitting watching the rainbow the rainbow fairies and queen danced gracefully into the room. Here there was great applause as the fairies looked charming in their costumes of rainbow colors trimmed with tinsel and carrying long streamers of rainbow colors. They sang, "We Are the Rainbow Fairies." (Rainbow fairies—Doris Mullen, Eugenia Freer, Alice Osterhoudt, Beatrice Shepherson, Edna Thompson, Hazel Jones, Margaret Davis.) Then came a song, "I Am the Rainbow Queen," by Alice Freer. The queen looked very charming and dainty in her dress of rainbow colors and took her part in a way worthy of highest praise.

Then came several more songs by the Rainbow Fairies and Queen. Act I closed by a song, "Over the Rainbow."

Between Act I and Act II, Mrs. Alger and Miss Keller played a duet.

Act II opened with a song by the Moonbeams and Sunbeams. The Moonbeams were dressed in white and carried chains of silver paper, while the Sunbeams were dressed in yellow and carried chains of gold paper. At the close of this song the queen and maids of honor and children were ushered in by the herald, (Robert Osterhoudt).

Next came the song, "All Hail to the Queen." This was followed by solo by Doris Mullen and one by Margaret Davis, with the chorus of Moonbeams and Sunbeams joining in.

Next came a drill by the Moonbeams and Sunbeams. This was followed by the queen calling her subjects, the four winds, who each in turn sang a solo.

North Wind..... Doris Mullen
East Wind..... Eugenia Freer
West Wind..... Hazel Jones
South Wind..... Beatrice Shepherson

Then came a song by the little people wearing pink sashes and carrying watering pots. They sang "The Little Dewdrops."

This was followed by a song by the little artists wearing aprons and carrying palettes and brushes.

Next came the march of the fireflies and a song by the fireflies. Then the little girls came lightly tripping on the stage and sang "The Snow Frolics."

This was followed by the whole chorus singing "Fairland," and the closing chorus.

As the curtain went down the audience received great applause.

The next on the program was a duet by Mrs. Alger and Miss Keller. Then a farce "At the Depot." The cast of characters was as follows:

Ticket agent..... Carl Van Kleeck
Station agent..... Milton Freidman
College girl..... Alice Osterhoudt
The spoiled child..... Floyd Davis
His mother..... Alice Freer
College boy..... Stewart Northrup and Robert Osterhoudt.

Mrs. Jones..... Yetta Freidman
Miss Smith..... Eugenia Freer
Mr. Lawrence..... William Trichter
Mrs. O'Brien..... Millie Freidman
Her children—Mary Jones, Edith Mae Freer and Andrew Davis.

Next was a duet by Mrs. Alger and Miss Keller. Hoop drill by ten girls. Solo, "The Flag," Doris Mullen. Recitation, "The Flag," Fletcher Smith. Dialogue, "Oh! You Teacher," "Good Night Song," seven girls.

Much of the success of the entertainment is due to the piano music, played by Mrs. Alger and Miss Keller. The teacher, Miss Anna Devine, extends her thanks to Mrs. Alger and Miss Keller and the parents and friends of the children, who did so much to make the entertainment a success; also to the trustees of the hall who so kindly gave the use of the hall.

Refreshments were served at the close of the program.

FEDERATION HEARS FROM DAY NURSERY

The executive committee meeting of the Federation of Women's Clubs, held at the Y. M. C. A. this morning, was presided over by Miss Deudney, vice-president, in the absence from town of the president, Mrs. C. K. Moulton. As this was the last meeting before the annual general meeting, considerable business was brought to a close and prepared for reporting at the Saturday meeting. Mrs. Gray read the minutes of the last joint meeting of the executive committee with a special meeting of the full Federation and the same were approved. The report of the treasurer, Mrs. Merritt, showed a balance on hand at the last executive meeting in April of $37.66. Additional income brought the receipts to $39.97. The disbursements were $58.95, leaving a balance on hand of $31.01. The balance to the credit of the Day Nursery fund, dispensed through the Federation, was $250.34, and the balance in the visiting nurse fund amounted to $30.55.

As three minute reports will be expected from the various committees at the Saturday meeting, the only committee to report at the morning's meeting was the Social Center Association. The committee, in conjunction with the executive committee of the Federation was to have charge of the dismantling of the Federation House, and Mrs. Fessenden, chairman of the association, stated that articles which had been loaned to the Federation, would wherever possible, be returned to the owners. Some few possessions would be sold, a few others loaned to or stored with the Day Nursery. Since the Board of Education had granted the use of one small room in No. 3 School, for social center work one afternoon of each week, all supplies used and needed by the association would be taken there and beginning Monday, May 24, the first sewing class would be held there after school. This work will be under the supervision of one of the trained teachers from the high school, assisted by volunteer workers. These classes will be maintained until July Fourth, as was the custom when they were operated at the Federation House.

The following communication was received and read from the Monday Sewing Club:

May 1, 1916.
Mrs. Charles K. Moulton, President of Federation of Clubs, Kingston, N. Y.

Dear Mrs. Moulton:
Since the Day Nursery is about to become a civic organization, the Monday Sewing Club is writing to thank the ladies of the Federation for the favors we have enjoyed during the nursery's residence in the Federation House. We deeply appreciated being invited to take up our quarters in the Federation House, and regret that the ladies of the Federation are no longer able to maintain it. The Monday Sewing Club also wishes the Federation all success in immediate and future undertakings.

Very truly yours,
Secretary, Monday Sewing Club.

The letter was received and placed on file. During the past year the Day Nursery has had two rooms at the Federation House, rent free, together with such an amount of coal as was necessary to keep the rooms at temperature suitable to the comfort of little children, and also the use of sufficient gas to provide at any time necessary and warm food for the children, such as soups, broths, etc.

Attention was called to the general and annual Federation meeting to be held on Saturday of this week, May 20, at the lecture room of the Fair Street Reformed Church, beginning at 2:30 o'clock. The Political Equality Club will act as hostesses and have provided two most excellent speakers, Mrs. John Blackburn of Albany, and Admiral Higginson of this city. All members of the Federation are reminded that at this meeting annual dues should be paid. By paying dues at this meeting time and expense will be saved and the new treasurer will have the added advantage of a neat little sum in the treasury with which to start the new year.

The program had been received of the 13th biennial convention of the General Federation to be held in New York city, beginning on Monday next, May 22, and lasting until Friday, June 2. It is expected that 20,000 women will attend this convention, which will open on Monday morning at 10 o'clock at Hotel Astor. That evening there will be a dinner given for eleven department chairmen of the General Federation in the yacht room of the hotel. The big events for Tuesday will be the New Jersey breakfast at 12 m., East Orange, Essex County Country Club; a reception at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas A. Edison, Llewellyn Park, West Orange; a reception at the Women's Club of Orange; closing with a dramatic evening, Ernest Thompson Seton lecturing, and music by the Bendix orchestra. On Wednesday Mrs. John Hays Hammond will give a luncheon to the state presidents at Hotel Astor; later there will be a luncheon to the state secretaries and another to the committee on music. In the afternoon conferences of all sorts of educational and philanthropic committees will be held. At 5 o'clock on that day the official opening reception to officers of the General Federation will occur. Mrs. Margaret Wilson being the guest of honor. In the evening there will be a general rally at the Seventh Regiment Armory, with addresses by the most noted women in the General Federation. Thursday will be largely given over to special business and receptions to special delegations from other states, ending with a large reception in the evening at the Metropolitan Museum of Art. Art, home economics, civics will be the chief subjects discussed on Friday, with additional receptions to out state delegations. Conservation, literature, civics and drama will be considered. In the evening at 8 o'clock will occur the Shakespeare Masque at the Hotel Astor, and from 7 to 8:30 the "History of Costumes" will be presented at the hotel, with living models. Sunday's program will be as follows: 11 a. m., special service at St. Thomas's Church; 4 p. m., vesper services, Hotel Astor; program provided by chairman of department of music, with organist and choir boys; 8 p. m., meeting in honor of delegates from the twelve out-of-state states, Carnegie Hall.

This gives a fair idea of one week's events and the following week will be equally full of interest and instruction. It is expected that several women from Kingston will attend this convention.

SOCIETY NOTES.

Mrs. Otis Oliver Hall of Balmville announces the engagement of her daughter, Miss Marie Louise Hall, to Eric Lange of Copenhagen, Denmark. Miss Hall is the niece of Mrs. Marshall Bell.

Miss Agnes Snyder entertained a party of friends at her home on Tuesday evening in honor of her 20th birthday. During the early part of the evening various games were enjoyed. Beautiful selections were rendered on the piano and violin by Miss Gussie Brodhead and the most popular Jack Curran at the violin and the hostess at the piano. A most charming vocal duet was rendered by Miss Carrie Bruck and Leo Schaezel. Dancing was one of the main features of the evening. At about 8:30 o'clock a telegram of congratulations was sent by Mr. and Mrs. Morris Elzofon of the Bostonian Shirt Waist Co. A collation was served at about 10:30, which was greatly enjoyed by the merry makers. Miss Snyder was the recipient of many beautiful gifts, among which was a $5 gold piece, given by her parents. Those present were Miss Carrie Bruck, Miss Anna Sunday afternoon with her parents, Van Waznen, Miss Mary Kain, Miss Estella Mager, Miss Gussie Kline, Miss Agnes Snyder, John Curran, Leo Schaezel, Frank Mager, Nelson Smith, Edward Brodhead, Martin Oulton. All departed at an early hour voting the charming hostess a delightful entertainer.

Becker-Playford.

Ellsworth Becker of Saugerties and Miss Anna May Playford of No. 82 Hoffman street were married on Tuesday by the Rev. A. S. Cole, pastor of the Albany Avenue Baptist Church. The attendants were Jennie Snyder and Raymond Wickham.

FIELD OF SPORTS.

Notes of Baseball, Pugilism and Other Lines of Athletics.

By Telegraph to The Freeman
Pittsburgh, Pa., May 18.—Charles McCourt, of Pittsburgh, is the new holder of the three cushion billiard title. He defeated Charles Ellis, former champion, in the three nights' play by 150 to 145. With only a point to go Ellis made a misnomer and left a set up which lost him the championship.

New York, May 18.—The "sport of kings" received its baptism in the Metropolitan Circuit at Jamaica today. The Paumonok Handicap, for 3 years old at six furlongs, worth $2,500 was the feature of the first day's racing. Sixteen horses are entered to go with the Butler entry.—High Noon and Comely—the favorites.

They Defy the Law.

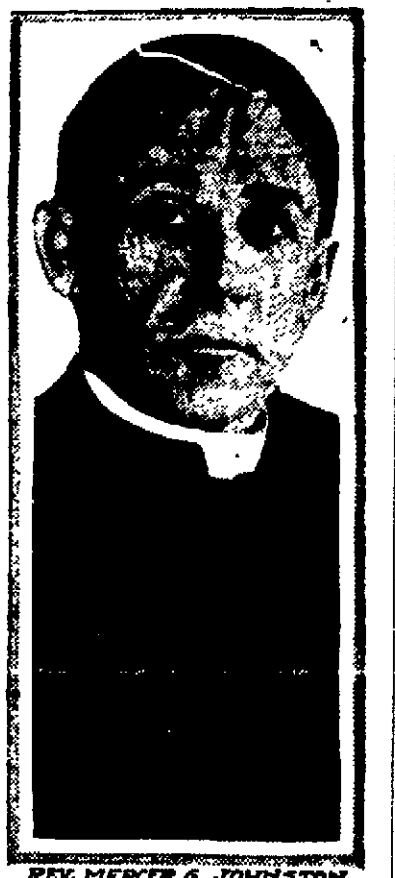

Riding a bicycle on the sidewalk of a city is a misdemeanor punishable by fine and imprisonment in a county jail or penitentiary, and it is the duty of all police officers to arrest violators of the law. Notwithstanding all this, there are several persons who daily ride bicycles on the sidewalk of Albany and Manhattan, and who when remonstrated with reply with profane and obscene insults.

Newark, N. J., May 18.—Hard hitting sermons are not wanted at the Trinity Episcopal Church here, according to the Rev. Mercer Green Johnston, who has just resigned his pastorate.

"My vestrymen want me to run the church like a grocery store—please the customers," said, Dr. Johnston. "One of my vestrymen told me that my sort of religion was interesting, but it was bound to hurt business. I told him it hadn't hurt the business I was in."

Fire Dangers.

Most everyone who has had any dealings with machinery knows about the liability of oily rags and waste that have been used for cleaning purposes to ignite from spontaneous combustion; but few are aware that sawdust, when soaked with oil drippings, will act in the same way. Sawdust is sometimes seen scattered over garage floors, but this practice should be prohibited. Sand is the safest for absorbing drippings.

Lines Hardly Appropriate.

The lines in the Dutch national hymn, "Preserve, O God, the dear old ground, then to our fathers gave," seem to indicate a considerable modesty on the part of the Netherlands, the supposedly correct fact being that they reclaimed the ground themselves. Providence actually being something of a hindrance, both to its acquisition and its "preservation" for which they pray.

Quite the loveliest afternoon gown is shown in very brilliant blue taffeta, the skirt of which is extremely full and cut in deep yoke effect topped with a cording and frill of self material. The bodice is an exquisite combination of black shadow and silver lace, the latter forming a lining for the former, which is arranged in cape effect. The long bell sleeves are most attractive. A distinctive chip straw hat with ostrich trimming and button trimmed slippers proves an appropriate finishing touch.

Three Times.

In the days of his youth Senator Blackburn of Kentucky was asked by a friend to second a duel. He consented, and at the next sunrise the parties met. It was Mr. Blackburn's duty to say the last word concerning the terms of the duel. One of the senator's colleagues recently said at a Washington dinner that, although Mr. Blackburn faithfully performed the duty, the duel never took place. A murmur of "Why not?" went around the table at this remark. "For a very simple reason," continued Mr. Blackburn's colleague. "When Joe finished speaking it was too dark for a duel."

PERSEVERANCE.

Genius is only the power of making continuous efforts. The line between failure and success is so fine that we scarcely know when we pass it, so fine that we are often on the line and do not know it. How many a man has thrown up his hands at a time when a little more effort, a little more patience, would have achieved success! As the tide goes clear out, so it comes in.—Rayburn's Sayings.

ARMY MAN WOULD INSURE PEACE BY WORLD TRIBUNAL

Mohawk Lake, N. Y., May 18.—If the nations of the world can be federated as the states of the United States are, the result will be a vast increase in human well being, Major George Haven Putnam of New York, told the Conference on International Arbitration here today.

A vast amount of energy now devoted to war and preparation to war will be released for use in the struggle against disease, ignorance and poverty, he said, when the world has one supreme tribunal, whose international decisions are backed up by an international force.

He said: "We may fairly look forward to the time when, in like manner, (to the United States), nations, after having worked together with a peace enforced by a central authority, will have come, as generations have grown up under such conditions of enforced peace, to accept peaceable relations as the normal and ordinary condition of national life and of international life, just as today we accept peaceable relations as the ordinary condition of life within the community of a city, or a state, or a nation."

"Such acceptance of peaceable international relations as the normal condition for states as for individuals, will set free a vast amount of human energy and vitality."

"It will make available for peaceful development, for the comfort and happiness of mankind, a vast amount of human energy, of vitality, and of resources that have been accumulated by human industry—energies and resources, which, under existing conditions, have been so fruitfully dissipated in war and in preparation for war."

"Under a World's Federation, these resources and energies can be utilized for the minimizing of evils which now beset society, and for the development of the productive possibilities of the earth's surface, in such manner that there should come to be if not wealth, at least comfort for all."

"It should prove possible, when human thought is free to be concentrated upon the things of humanity, to stamp out disease and through such control of physical condition, to bring to an end, or at least materially to lessen, those phases of wickedness which result from disease."

"Pauperism will be controlled, so that only those who are lazy, without remedy need be at risk of not securing the things of life."

"I should agree with Plato that the man who will not do his share of work in the community should be spared, by some comfortable process, from the fatigues of life."

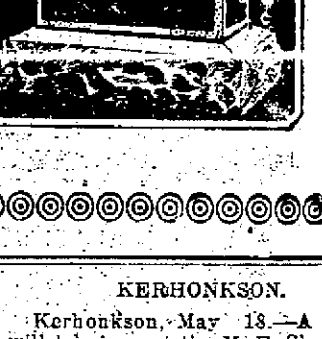

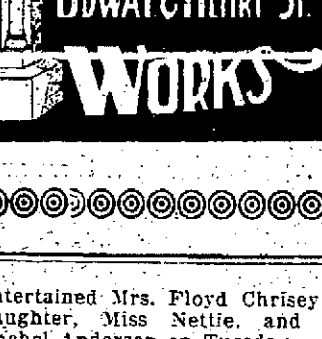

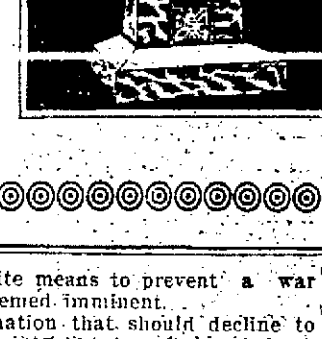

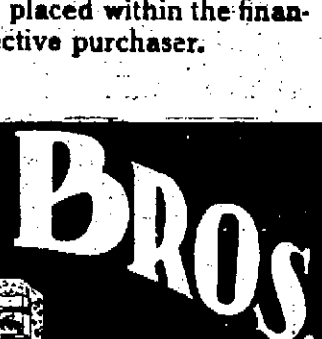

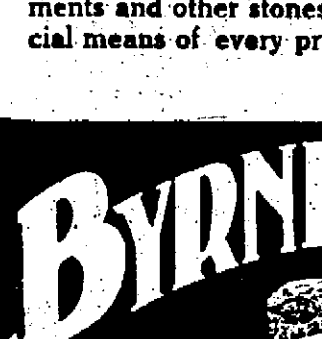

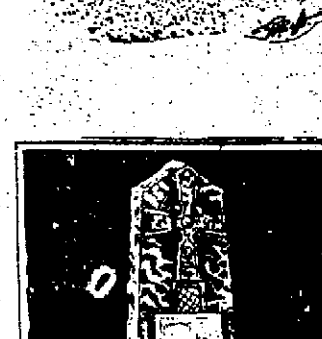

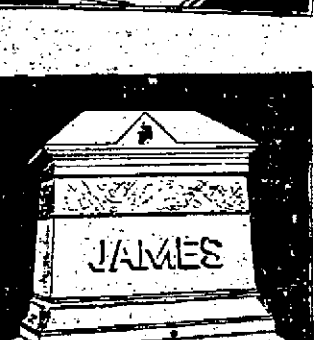

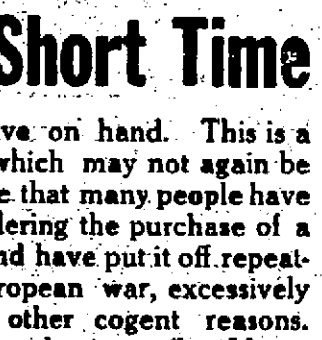

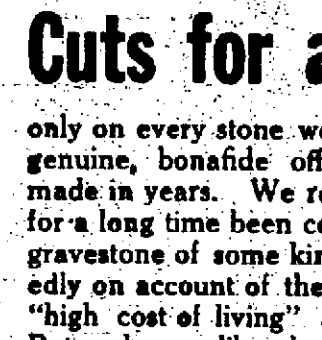

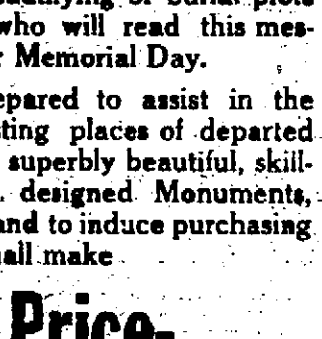

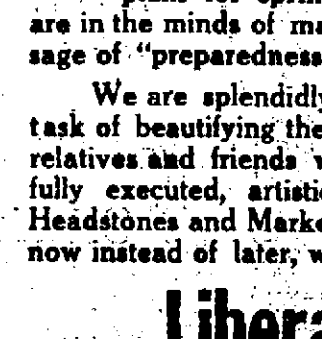

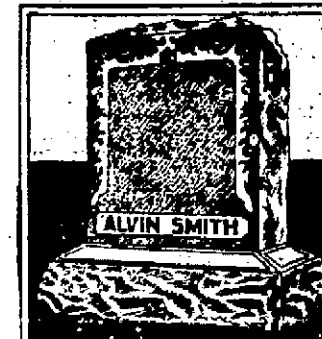

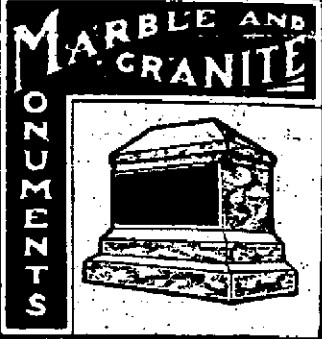

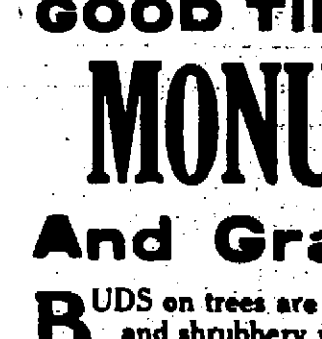

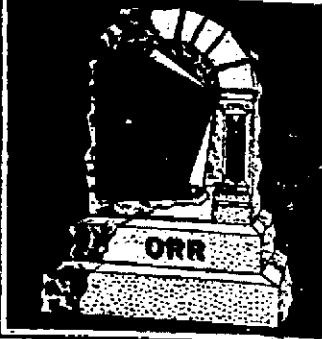

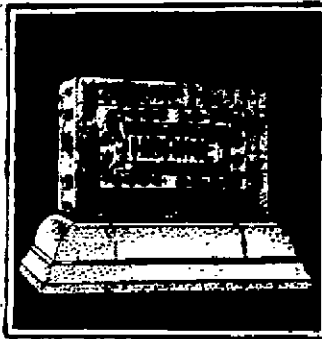

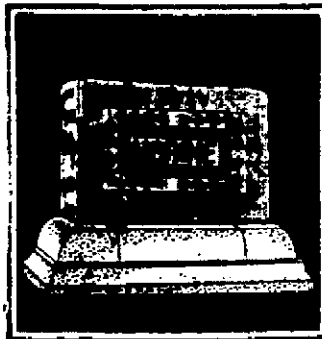

Herbert S. Houston, an officer of the League to Enforce Peace, said he believed the nations of the world acting together could by a simple business boycott force any rebellious nation to obey the mandates of a world tribunal.

"Business today is really the great organized life of the world," said Mr. Houston. "The agencies which it is carried forward through have created such a maze of interrelations that each nation must depend on all the others. A great fusing to buy from that nation, or Chicago banker, John J. Arnold, Vice-President of the First National Bank of that city, said to me a few weeks ago that so closely drawn and interwoven had become the economic net in which the world was enmeshed that if the great war could have been postponed four or five years it would never have been swept down upon men like a thunderbolt of destruction."

"Now economic progress is not a new thing in the world. It has been before by one nation against another, and usually with tremendous effectiveness. When Philip was organizing the great armada the merchants of London persuaded the merchants of Genoa to withhold credit and money from the Spanish king. The result was that the armada was delayed for over a year, and then the English were prepared to meet the shock."

"When the German Emperor dispatched the gunboat to Agadir bringing on the acute crisis with France, I happened to be in Paris. On the fourth day of the crisis I was having luncheon at the Grand Hotel with a young French banker of the Credit Lyonnais. I remarked on the fact that the crisis was becoming less acute and inquired the reason. He was withdrawing our French investments from Germany was the answer, and that economic pressure is relieving the situation."

"As we all know, it not only relieved the situation but it served as arbitration decision, in all the

GEO. L. WACHMEYER CAPTAIN WARRINGTON DEAD AT AGE OF 87 OF MARY POWELL

Veteran Furniture Dealer, For 60 Years a Respected Resident of Rondout, Dies After a Long Illness.

George L. Wachmeyer, the veteran Strand furniture dealer, died at 8:15 o'clock this morning at his home, No. 11 Home street, after a long illness, in his 87th year. Besides his widow, he is survived by the following children: George, Jr., Miss Augusta K. Leonard C. Henry L., and Elizabeth, wife of William Hildebrandt, all of this city. Owing to the critical illness of members in the family the funeral will be strictly private on Friday evening at the late residence.

Mr. Wachmeyer was born in the kingdom of Bavaria, Germany, November 13, 1829, and received his entire education in that kingdom. In 1846, when a boy of seventeen, he came to Kingston from Germany, and settled in the lower section of the city, then the active business section. Since that time he has been a resident of this city.

When he came to this city, Mr. Wachmeyer worked for William Crossman, an undertaker, and was associated with him until he later went into business for himself in 1857. During all these years Mr. Wachmeyer had been very successful and in addition to his undertaking business he carried on a large business in furniture, and also conducted a large furniture manufacturing establishment on Catherine street. He has been assisted in his business by his sons. The furniture and undertaking business is well and favorably known not only in Kingston but throughout the entire Hudson river valley.

Mr. Wachmeyer had always taken an active interest in the affairs of the city and county. For years he served as an alms commissioner under Republican administrations and for a long time was repeatedly elected supervisor from his district.

He was a man of genial personality and up to his recent illness always took an active interest in his business. During his long and honorable business and political career in Kingston he has made a host of friends who mourn his loss.

Mr. Wachmeyer was an active church member, having been connected with the Spring Street Lutheran Church ever since its organization in 1849.

In 1851, two years after the organization of the church, he was united in marriage to his wife, who survives, by the founder of the church, the Rev. C. H. Siebke. If Mr. Wachmeyer had lived until August of this year he would have celebrated his 65th wedding anniversary.

Mr. Wachmeyer was in Rondout at the time of the Asiatic cholera epidemic in 1849, and was employed at that time by Mr. Crossman. He often told the story of those days when prevailed upon by his friends and recalled that deaths were as high as 18 a day and he and his employees kept busy all day manufacturing wooden coffins by hand and at night carrying them on their backs to the houses of the plague stricken and carrying away their dead in the middle of the night. Although actively engaged in handling the bodies of the victims of the plague, Mr. Wachmeyer never once suffered any ill effects from it.

His death removes from the city one of its most highly respected and honored residents.

RUNAWAY BOY IN FOREST GLEN

Chester Stevens, one of the boys who ran away from Letchworth Village with Charles Newkirk, the New Paltz boy who recently was committed to that institution by Judge Jenkins, was found on Wednesday afternoon by Jailer Robert Davis at the farm of a Mr. Neal at Forest Glen, town of New Paltz, where he had applied for work. He was brought to the jail and at noon today Newkirk and Stevens were taken to the village by one of the keepers of the institution. No trace has been found of the third boy who ran away with them but he is supposed to have started for his home in the central part of the state.

Stevens says he is 16 years old. He is smaller than Newkirk but is much more forceful and probably was the ringleader of the trio when the escape was made. The boys committed to Letchworth village have a system of guards of their own and Stevens was one of the guards whose duty it was to keep track of the other boys.

Arthur A. Warrington of This City in Charge of the Famous Old Queen of the Hudson—Started Work on the Powell as a Deckhand.

Arthur A. Warrington of No. 18 Home street, who fifteen years ago started work on the famous old Queen of the Hudson as a deckhand, has been appointed captain of the Mary Powell and will have charge of the steamer this season. Captain Warrington received his master's license some time ago. The Powell will make her annual excursion to New York city on Thursday, May 26, and her annual excursion to Albany on Saturday, May 27. At the present time she is in the creek tied up at the Cornell ship dock.

Captain Warrington owes his present position to his thorough knowledge of the river and his efficient work in past seasons on the Powell. Fifteen years ago he started work as a deckhand, and by constant study and untiring energy he has gradually risen until he now fills the position of captain of the Powell. For the past six years Captain Warrington served as pilot on the Powell. He is a young man of fine character and has a host of friends who wish him success.

The Queen of the Hudson has made an enviable record among river boats and is noted for the safe and careful manner in which she has been handled. During her entire history, she has never met with a serious accident. Under the efficient hands of Captain Warrington there is no question but she will continue to keep her fine record unblemished.

CONNELLY'S NIGHT IT PROVED TO BE

Henry C. Connelly Proved Himself an Expert at Bowling, Eating and Playing Pinochle When Wednesday Night Club Held Its Session.

The Wednesday Night Club held its weekly session that night and the host of the evening was Willis Hills who entertained the club at the supper of the Church of the Holy Spirit in Griffiths's Hall on Hasbrouck avenue when the Rev. J. J. Bott, pastor of the church, officiated as master of ceremonies in seeing that the club members received prompt service at the hands of the pleasing and good looking young ladies who waited on the tables.

It was at supper that the other members of the club began to realize that indications pointed to it being the night of nights for Henry C. Connelly, the genial downtown druggist who made a record of the table in disposing of the good things that were placed before him. From supper the club assembled at the Y. M. C. A. for a bowling match and again the Connelly star was in the ascendant as Connelly's team defeated the bowling team of Sam Watts in a match game. All this players were members of the club.

From that victory for the Connelly cohorts the club members walked over to the Hills residence on Pine Grove avenue where a lengthy session of pinochle was held with the result that Mr. Connelly again shone as a star winning the first prize, a pair of kid gloves. The booby prize was won by Clark Snyder, and it proved to be that which he could use to good advantage in the automobile business.

As one club member said, as the session finally broke up "Well you have got to hand it to Henry, it certainly was his night."

The members of the club beside Mr. Hills were Henry C. Connelly, Charles DeForest, Louis Beeres, Frank Thompson, A. D. Pardee, S. M. Watts, Charles R. O'Connor, A. R. Pardee, Robert Payne, Clark Snyder and Theodore Wood.

Next Wednesday evening the club will meet again.

Children Find Viking Relics.

An interesting find of Viking relics of the ninth century was recently discovered at Walton, in the island of Lewis, by schoolchildren. The relics consisted of a pair of large oval brooches of a noted Scandinavian type, a small penannular brooch, a disk-shaped ornament with a central boss and a decor of interlaced lines, a small buckle, part of a bronze chain, probably used to connect the large oval brooches, and a single big amber bead.—London Globe.

THIS is the time of the year when more people are considering the question of "what car to buy" than at any other time of the year.

This community has its full share of people who will soon be driving their first car or a new car to replace the old one.

Now, we know that we are going to sell Maxwell Cars to a great many of these people—depending upon how many we are able to acquaint with the merits of the Maxwell.

The generous value offered in the car is so evident—its past record is so full of good performance—owners speak so well of it—that when the buyer knows these things, he is eager to buy a Maxwell.

In order to tell as many people as possible about the merits of the Maxwell Car we are going to spend a lot of money in the next few weeks in this paper advertising Maxwell merits to those who do not know them.

The reason—we want to sell as many Maxwells as possible this season. Our future allotments will depend upon how many Maxwells we sell now.

You may know that the Maxwell market is a buyer's market, not a seller's market—broadly speaking. The demand for Maxwells the country over is greater than the supply.

For this reason cars are allotted to dealers by the factory according to the size of the dealer's business.

We want to make a showing and be in a position to get a generous allotment of Maxwells hereafter. Because the more Maxwells are sold in any community, the greater is the future demand. We realize the opportunity to do an ever-increasing Maxwell business.

This is only the first of the several messages we are going to print—a few days apart—concerning the Maxwell Car. But we don't expect to be able to adequately present Maxwell merits in printed words alone.

If you are one who is going to buy a new car you will find it decidedly to your advantage to find out all you can about the Maxwell before you place your order.

Come in and talk it over with us and let us demonstrate the car to you. Then, don't take our word alone, but ask those who now own Maxwells.

Get "posted" about the Maxwell and you will realize more satisfaction and get more "value received" for your motor car money than ever before.

And we are just as willing to have you investigate other cars just as fully as you do ours. The Maxwell will not suffer by the comparison.

Why not start your Maxwell investigation today?

ADMIRAL FLETCHER TO BE RETIRED

Re: Telegram to The Freeman.

Washington, May 18.—Secretary of the Navy Daniels announced today following a conference with President Wilson that on June 19 Admiral Frank P. Fletcher would be retired as commander of the Atlantic fleet. He will be succeeded, it was stated, by Vice-Admiral of the Fleet Henry T. Mayo, who achieved fame when he made the demand that Mexican troops at Tampico salute the United States flag.

Secretary Daniels stated that Admiral Fletcher had served the usual time as commander of the fleet and that there was nothing unusual in the change. He said that later Admiral Fletcher would be given an important shore assignment.

Admiral Mayo will be succeeded as Vice-Admiral by Rear-Admiral D. W. Johnston, at present commanding the seventh division of the Atlantic fleet.

Admiral Mayo's demand on the Mexican troops brought on the landing of marines at Vera Cruz. President Wilson backed up Admiral Mayo's order demanding that the then President Huerta order the salute. Huerta's soldiers had arrested some American marines who went ashore at Tampico and it was for that, that Admiral Mayo demanded that the Huerta soldiers salute the American flag.

SAWKILL.

Sawkill, May 18.—In spite of the rainy weather on Tuesday evening a very large gathering from Kingston, Sawkill and Wurtsville attended the Wurtsville minstrels, which were held at St. Ann's Hall, Sawkill. The entertainment was of the best, the songs, including all of the latest selections, were sung in a professional manner, which received a great deal of applause, and the jokes sprang from the end men kept the audience in an uproar of laughter. After the performance everyone present enjoyed the dancing until an early hour, the music being furnished by John Spalt of Kingston, for the occasion, while Leland and Horace Boice kept the square dancers in a whirl of music of the violin and accordion. All kinds of refreshments were served by the ladies of the parish. Everyone departed in the best of spirits, after enjoying a most delightful evening.

Clarence Bonesteel, who is employed in Bridgeport, Conn., spent today at his home in this place.

Mrs. Harry Bell of Yonkers, N. Y., spent the week end with friends in this place.

Miss Elizabeth Myers, who is employed in Yonkers, spent Sunday at home in this place.

The Misses Carroll, O'Brien, Golding and Brophy girls, who are employed in Kingston, attended the dance on Tuesday evening.

Miss Etta Mae Bonesteel visited friends in Zena on Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Brophy are busy sowing millet.

The Misses Kathryn and Bess Walton and Edward J. Wortman of Kingston attended the minstrels on Tuesday evening.

Miss Etta Mae Bonesteel and brothers, Clarence, were Kingston visitors on Monday.

A Dime Social.

The last of a series of socials given by the Ladies Aid Society of the Ponckhockie Union Church was given in the church on Wednesday evening, under the auspices of Mrs. David Gill's circle, and was greeted by a large audience. A very pleasing program was rendered, at the close of which refreshments were served. The program of the evening was opened by a piano solo by Miss Clara Bell of Rosendale, which was rendered in a most pleasing manner. This was followed by a piano duet by the Misses Dorothy and Helena Gill. They also did splendidly. Thirdly was a reading by Mrs. Haines. This was a rare treat to the enthusiastic audience, and she responded to a hearty encore. Miss Llewellyn Gill then rendered a dainty piano solo. She also responded to an encore. John Rockefeller lived up to the audience with a witty recitation, which was followed by a pretty vocal solo by Miss Isabelle Gill. Then to the delight of the listeners, Mrs. Haines was again called to the platform and gave two more short, but interesting readings. The program as brought to a close by a vocal solo, "When I Bid the World Good-bye" by Miss Clara Bell, and when she responded to an encore she equally sang "There's a Spark of Love Still Burning in the Embers of My Heart." The whole program was rendered in a pleasing and most perfect way, which was shown by the audience which was always ready with an encore and applause. But this was not all. As soon as the entertainment was over the ladies began serving their friends with ice cream, cake and strawberries, while the guests remained seated in the prettily decorated rooms, of which, and enjoyed a social hour, after which they departed, perfectly satisfied in the way their dimes were spent, and the ladies of the circle were glad to announce that a good sum was realized through their many friends.

MENKE'S DAILY SPORTING LETTER

(By Frank G. Menke.)

New York, May 18.—If you merely seek kate in the pugilistic world, it isn't necessary for you to become a champion. Ring history shows that aspirants, with good business heads, have secured as many, if not more, greenbacks than the title holders.

Packey McFarland never was a division king, yet the Chicagoan has earned in the neighborhood of $200,000 in the ring. Mike Gibbons, whose "shake downs" in the last three years have gone beyond $100,000, never has worn a crown. Leach Cross, who grabbed over $200,000 during his long ring career, never got out of the runner-up class. Frank Moran, merely their apparent to the heavyweight throne, has earned $50,000 during the past seven or eight months. And he is sure to add another $40,000 or $50,000 if he goes through his fights with Jack Dillon and Carl Morris. Dillon never has been a fully recognized champion, although he claims the lightweight title. Yet Dillon's ring earnings have been tremendous.

K. O. Brown Earned $144,000.

Battling Levinsky, who fought almost continuously last year, earned close to $50,000. Knockout Brown, the lightweight, never was much better than a good second rate. But during the five years he was campaigned under the management of Dan Morgan, his earnings were $144,000—an average of nearly $30,000 a year. Johnny Dundee, lightweight, is earning as much per year now as the champions of other days used to earn during their entire regime.

George Chaney isn't the featherweight champion. Chaney is he never will be. Johnny Kilbane continues to duck a meeting with him. Yet Chaney is getting almost as much for his services as is Kilbane, and his ring earnings during the past two years have been huge in the extreme. Charley White of Chicago is as big—if not bigger—a drawing card in the west than Champion Freddie Welsh. And White's annual earnings have run well into the five figures.

So far we have touched on only the topnotch aspirants. There are scores of other battlers who never have been and never will be champions, yet they are earning each year sums that exceed those garnered by champions in other days.

Dan Morgan Explains.

"How do you account for it?" we asked Dan Morgan, the managerial person, who has the reputation of being able to get bigger guarantees for his non-champions than many champions can get.

"Because a good non-champion, in a no-decision bout, often is a better drawing card than a champion," answered Morgan. "Furthermore, a non-champion will fight oftener, and he will fight anybody. A champion doesn't care to risk losing his title. He fights infrequently—and usually selects lemons. A champion never fights a loser."

"The fans want to see men fight. That's why they pay or. They know that when the first class aspirants are fighting in a limited bout that both men will battle to the limit that the bout will be a real one. But they are always skeptical about an affair in which a champion figures. Title holders do not take unnecessary chances. Rarely are they on the aggressive, and unless both men do offensive fighting the bout often times is farcical.

"A good aspirant won't get as big a guarantee per fight as a champion, but over a year's stretch he will earn more money than the king because he will fight three and four times while the champ is fighting once.

"I've never managed a champion, up to the time that Jack Britton beat Ted Lewis and gained the welterweight crown. I always have backed away from headline ones. They get all swelled up on themselves, are hard to manage and insist upon picking lemon opponents and getting big money at the same time—an impossibility. A non-champion, however, is willing to fight as often as you can match him—and he will fight anyone you pick for him. He's ambitious you see, while the champion has achieved his."

Honors to Ellenville Youth.

Allen C. Potter, who has been in Poughkeepsie for the last four months attending Eastman Business College, graduated Tuesday with honors, having gained the highest percentage for the finals in his class. The Giants are going through the west.
Whipping the Pirates, the Cubs and the rest.

Soren straight, out of last place, and still going strong. That's how McGraw's men are "speeding" on the road.

The battle to the death is now being waged by the Braves and Dodgers. They are now tied for the lead.

If the Giants trim the Cubs and Pirates, the Cubs trim the Dodgers, the Pirates and Braves, which is the best club?

They are also going to stage a real fight for the lead in the American League today, when the Indians and Nationals clash.

Freddie Welsh is going to South America to fight Charlie White. Report has it Freddie will get around $20,000 for his end. Think we would take the same journey for that kate.

The sports sprouted from their long sleep. Racing starts in the east today.

ALBERT MANNAUX

PIRATES' STAR PITCHER KEEPING UP GOOD WORK BEGUN LAST YEAR.

After having won 21 games out of 29 in which he pitched last year Albert Mannaux of the Pirates, who rushed Grover Alexander, hard for first pitching honors in the National League, is keeping up his pace this season. Mannaux went to the hospital with a case of appendicitis last year, but the operation has not impaired his pitching ability in the least. He recently stopped the Braves after Cooper and Harmon had been hit freely by the Bostonians.

The Missing Doctor.

Theories of foul play have been abandoned and it is believed Dr. O'Brien left Wappingers on his own volition.

Mr. Kirk Not Missing.

John Kirk, a Walden farmer reported missing for several days, has returned home. He states that he was absent on a business trip.

GERMAN AVIATOR A POPULAR HERO

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Rotterdam, May 18.—Just now photographs of Immelmann, knight of the air, have replaced those of the Kaiser, the Crown Prince and even Field Marshal von Hindenburg.

The great aviator receives letters in such quantity that he has to employ a private secretary to handle them. Included are numerous offers of marriage, the senders ranging from giddy young Fraulein to elderly maids and widows.

He has been decorated with the highest order, the "Pour le Merite," established by Frederick the Great, who hated the German language and used French.

He has received an autograph letter from the Kaiser. The Emperor sat down to congratulate the dier on his twelfth victory. While he was writing, news was brought that the number had just been increased to thirteen. The Emperor struck out "twelfth" and substituted "thirteenth," remarking "Immelmann shoots quicker than I can write."

Immelmann is a crack shot and was selected for special work on that account.

He first appeared on the fighting front in January of last year, flying a two-decker, then, proving his ability as a marksman was given a fast monoplane.

It is stated that he scored a victory in his initial fight in the single-deck machine, and subsequently was one of the first airmen to use a Fokker.

A recent interviewer thus describes him: "He is a modest, reserved soldier, with large, quiet eyes. He is a Saxon and a master shot. Of the dangers of the fight Immelmann does not speak. That is his own affair. Danger and luck are his personal experiences, and he keeps them to himself. As a fier he acts courageously and quickly, and speaks as little as people of action generally do speak."

In search of Immelmann on the western front a representative of the Berliner Tageblatt came across two English prisoner airmen whose machine had just been brought down within the German lines. Their names are given as Percy Shaw, aged 20, and Ernest Coleman, aged 22.

The correspondent writes:

"They admitted quite honestly that Immelmann was a phenomenon, that his machine was extraordinarily quick in its movements, and appeared with great promptness wherever it was necessary to cause surprise. This man and his machine are a danger to the English fighting scheme. Then followed my questions. 'Do the English hate him?' 'How do they speak of him?'

"'Hate him?' asked both the young men and they looked at me with astonishment. 'Why should we? He flies and attacks. He is a soldier. We hate no soldiers.' 'Well,' I replied, 'it is said that you have put a price on him. Isn't that so?' They looked at each other, as if they had heard something quite new, and wished to have it confirmed by each other whether they had heard it or not."

"What price, and who will pay it?" I explained that I had heard it from some French prisoners, and that, after all, it might only be a fairy tale. "But," I added, "in your hangars it is possible that Lieutenant Smith, for instance, might be a match for Immelmann. Each looked me straight in the face with astonishment. I was very glad to see it. 'Do you know how many flying machines he has already brought down?' I asked. They thought eight or ten, but believed thirteen was an exaggeration. 'But,' they said, 'that doesn't matter at all. In England for every machine that is brought down they will build a dozen new ones, and have a dozen new fliers to put into them.'"

One of the last Englishmen whom Immelmann brought down, says a German newspaper, was a very brave fighter. He continued to fire while his stricken machine was gliding on its fall. Then he took his hand from the machine gun, shook both fists at the enemy, and dropped into the depths.
